

CHD Health Passport

News

shelagh

October 3, 2015

0

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying the "SickKids MyHealth Passport" form. The form is titled "Congenital Heart Disease" and includes a "Name" field and a "Date of Birth" field. Below these, there is a section for "Symptoms" with a list of checkboxes: "I have difficulty breathing", "I have difficulty sleeping", "I have difficulty eating", "I have difficulty playing", "I have difficulty walking", and "I have difficulty breathing". There are also sections for "Diagnosis" and "Treatment" with text input fields. The form is designed to be a wallet-size health passport for emergency use.

Would you like to create a wallet-size health passport in case of emergency? You can now use the SickKids MyHealth Passport to create a CHD-specific form with all of your pertinent health and contact information. Just click HERE and use the drop-down menu to select "Congenital heart disease" and then fill out the information and keep it in your wallet or purse.